

Nyloboard, LLC Attends the 9th Annual CARE Conference in Amelia Island, FL

Amelia Island, FL (May, 2011)- Nyloboard was on hand as The Carpet America Recovery Effort (CARE) honored Los Angeles Fiber and Interface Americas—two leading post consumer recyclers at its 9th Annual Conference. The conference was held April 27-28 at Amelia Island Plantation, Amelia Island, FL.

“We are pleased to be a part of an organization, who is devoted to recovering and finding new uses for post-consumer carpet, while recognizing leaders in this mutual effort.”, says Kevin Guthard, VP of Sales and Marketing for Nyloboard, LLC. “It is our mission to continue our contribution by helping to stop the waste stream of carpet fiber that currently contributes billions of pounds to landfills each year and use it to create superior products, such as our family of Nyloboard brand products.” adds Guthard.

The annual conference is a way for its members to connect companies, who have the same desire to be on the leading edge of carpet recycling technology. It has been exciting to see the energy level at this conference and to see so many with the same goals in mind, which is to reduce the amount of carpet in landfills.”, say Patrick Doyle, CEO of Nyloboard. CARE’s goal is to divert 40% of post consumer carpet from the nation’s landfills.
